

IMPORTANT VICTORY

Japanese Forces Capture Fung Whang Ching.

OYAMA ATTACKING KIN CHOW

Chinese Not Likely to Offer Further Resistance to the Japanese Advance.

SHANGHAI, November 2.—It is now asserted that no Japanese have landed near Tientsin, but that they have landed at Tientsin, at the mouth of the Yalu river. It is the intention of the Japanese forces to attack Fung Whang Ching from two sides. Fung Whang Ching lies about twenty miles northwest of Tientsin, which is on the Manchuria side of the Yalu river.

LONDON, November 2.—The Japanese legation has received a dispatch stating that the Japanese forces, commanded by Field Marshal Count Oyama, are attacking Kin Chow. Both Tientsin and Peking are in a critical position.

LONDON, November 2.—The Japanese legation has received a dispatch stating that Field Marshal Yamagata has captured Fung Whang Ching, a city in the Chinese province of Liaoning, near the Korean frontier. Chinese defending the place fled towards Mantien. The victory is an important one. It leaves the mountain road open to the Japanese and the Chinese are not likely to offer further resistance to the Japanese army.

MONUMENT TO GRANT.

One Will be Erected in Golden Gate Park.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 2.—At last San Francisco is to have a monument to General U. S. Grant. Through the Grant monument committee has been in existence since the death of the General, only a small fraction of the $100,000 desired was subscribed. The money collected would have been returned to the subscribers had not the subscription books been closed. Recently three members of the original committee decided to proceed with the erection of the monument, personally increasing the subscriptions to a sizable sum. Robert J. Schindler, chairman of the committee, has been working for the monument, and he has gone to New York to copy the bust at Riverside park. The monument will be of granite and bronze, and will be erected in Golden Gate park.

MEXICO CITY SHAKEN

By an Earthquake Lasting Over Five Minutes.

THREE PERSONS WERE KILLED.

The Streets are Filled With Praying and Screaming People.

MEXICO CITY, November 3.—At 6:33 last night the strongest earthquake shock ever felt in Mexico occurred here, lasting over five minutes. Many houses and walls fell. Many were wounded and a number have died. Electric and other lights went out, leaving the city in darkness. All traffic is suspended. The streets are filled with screaming, praying people. The scene is indescribable. People in theaters, which were all running at the time, were frightened and panics were started only by the police. At the Orin theater "Juan Tenorio" was being given, and just as the graveyard scene was presented the people, rationally superstitious, saw the statue move, and screamed that the end of the world had come and died. People in trains were the most frightened of all. The shocks were felt in surrounding towns, but the details have not been received yet. It is reported that three people were killed and ten wounded by the shock in this city, so far as known.

STORM ON LAKE ERIE.

A Number of Vessels Narrowly Escape Being Wrecked.

BUFFALO, N. Y., November 3.—A terrible storm is raging on Lake Erie. The high winds began at 5:15 this morning and increased to nearly fifty miles an hour at 10 o'clock. This afternoon the wind has abated a trifle. Shortly before noon the large ferry was sighted near Wind Mill point. Her sails were torn and a small canvas hoisted about 100 feet was the only means of propelling the ferry. The ferry Johnson, of a line to her, just outside the wind and got her behind shelter. The men on board were thoroughly exhausted. Wheelman Thorpe lay in the cabin unconscious from a frightful wound in the head. He was carried to the shore and his condition is critical. The ferry was washed over the side. Another seaman was washed overboard, but rescued. At noon the Duffer State was discovered about five miles up the lake on the south shore. She was flying danger signals and four of the biggest tugs were sent to her. Two of them were obliged to return, as they were filled with water. The Idaho, from Duluth, laden with copper and iron, and nearly empty, was being towed. She was rescued by tugs. Her cargo had shifted.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

Holland's Queen at Fifteen.

The young queen of the Netherlands is very rapidly passing out of childhood and becoming a young lady. She will be 15 on the 11th of August, and it will require only three years more to make her so much of a woman that she can "come out," have a big tea and meet all her mother's friends, and then start on a round of assemblies and parties. As it is, she will probably have to employ all her time.

Queen Wilhelmina is a well grown girl, fair and rosy, with a democratic enthusiasm for sport and romping games. Her regimen of life is as simple as that of many young women whose worldly position is not nearly so high and far simpler than that of the American children of millionaire parents.

She will gain every promised virtue that comes to those whose habit is "early to bed and early to rise," for she is at her lessons by half past 8 every morning. After three hours of study comes play with her horses or on a drive to hand her beloved white ponies. Two more hours of study come after lunch, and then more play in the open air when the weather is good. Dinner comes at half past 6, when Wilhelmina usually dines alone with her mother, and bed is not long after dinner.

Wilhelmina has grown up in the atmosphere of the bourgeois Dutch court to feel thoroughly Dutch in spirit and sympathies, and the custom in which the picture shows her is that of a peasant farmer's wife. One of her favorite costumes in which she has never been photographed, is her uniform as a colonel of the Second regiment of Westphalian cavalry, to which the German emperor appointed her two years ago.

Dorothy at the Wedding.

Little Miss Dorothy Drew, Mr. Gladstone's favorite granddaughter, has been interviewed on her experiences as one of the bridesmaids at Miss Margaret Tennant's wedding.

Dorothy, or "Dossie," as she is called, said:

"Yes, I went to Margaret's wedding. I was one of Margaret's little maids, and I was a very busy girl and a white satin frock, with lace on it."

"Miss Tennant was your godmother, was she not?"

"Yes, she was. Well, she doesn't look like it, does she? She gave me this beautiful brooch for the wedding. You may just look at it, but I cannot have you take it off, because it is my own. After the wedding I went to Margaret's house and had strawberries and sponge cake and a slice of peach."

"No," interrupted the nurse; "I do not think you had peach."

"Oh, yes, I am very sure I had. Very likely it was before you came."

"And were you very good at the wedding?"

"Yes, because I had on my new dress, and that made me so good."

"Did the church look beautiful, and did you like the singing?"

"They did not give me a paper, so I couldn't sing, but the big bridesmaids had books. I wish they had had 'Orward, Christian Soldiers,' because I know that," and here Miss Dorothy started to sing this hymn in the prettiest treble possible.

Candidate Risley.

"Republican" Again Calls Attention to Him.

ERROR REPEATED.—I wish to say one more word to voters in regard to the campaign methods of E. W. Risley, Populist candidate for superior judge. The evidence is simply overwhelming that he has canvassed the county among Republicans and has asked for votes on the ground that he is just as good a Republican as he ever was.

This fact alone ought to defeat Mr. Risley overwhelmingly. I repeat that he deserves neither the confidence nor votes of either Populists or Republicans.

He is a vulgar, low-down, sneaking, dishonest, and unscrupulous fellow, and a Republican or a Populist, unscrupulously, who should never be permitted to hold office, and for which position the superior bench, for which position he is running, is the first requirement.

If Populist reform is to be achieved in by putting double-dealing politicians on the bench, may the good Lord preserve this country from such reform.

Gonged Up a Bullet.

A. H. Sutherland of Saguas recently coughed up a bullet from his lungs which had been lodged there since Oct. 11, 1909, when he was shot in the neck by one of Mohr's guerrillas in the battle of Chuparero. The bullet, which he has suffered, but did not know the cause of frequent hemorrhages which troubled him.—Boston Transcript.

It Would Not Do Fair.

Men cannot consistently deride women for wearing so much cloth in making their dresses, as long as they themselves are wearing the long tailed coats that are in fashion now.—Somerville Journal.

Friend—What did honor to you when he proposed to you?

Miss Rose.—He said life without me means nothing.

Friend.—He was sincere in that. That's just what his possessions amount to.—Boston Commercial.
